An Introduction To Arabic Literature

Synopsis

Roger Allen provides a comprehensive introductory survey of literary texts in Arabic, from their unknown beginnings in the fifth century AD to the present day, and from Islam's sacred text, the Qur'an, to popular literature including The Arabian Nights and a wealth of poetry, narrative prose, drama and criticism. With extensive quotations in English translation, a chronology and a guide to further reading, this revised and abridged version of Allen's acclaimed study, The Arabic Literary Heritage (CUP 1998), provides an invaluable student introduction to a major non-Western literary tradition.

Customer Reviews

This book is great for any middle eastern literary student. It's great literary selections coupled with the insightful historical background make this a constant book of reference and review. Would highly recommend.

This book was way better than the description given to me. The book look as if I just went to the store and purchased it myself.
